RETURN ON INVESTMENT FOR YOUR ORGANIZATION

The needs of organizations in the 21st century are consistently evolving, and senior level global executives must be equipped to conduct business innovatively in this dynamic global market. Organizations interested in developing key employees for positions of increasing global responsibility should consider TRIUM as a professional development opportunity. What is the return on investment? The impact is immediate.

TRIUM alumni learn to think differently, becoming more innovative and open-minded business people who establish a global network of students, faculty and alumni. The result is a newfound global and entrepreneurial approach towards business.

WHY INVEST?

To succeed in today's business environment, corporations need employees who have the ability to thrive in an increasingly complex and volatile world. The TRIUM Program gives sponsoring organizations the opportunity to invest in the growth and development of exceptional managers capable of navigating future organizational challenges.

SPONSORSHIP REQUIREMENTS

All TRIUM participants must be sponsored by their organizations with regard to time needed to attend the program; many are also financially sponsored.

EMPLOYEE PERSPECTIVE

TRIUM executives can quickly bring the benefits of the program to their company through new perspectives they are exposed to from the program's teachings and their fellow participants.

A key element of the TRIUM Global EMBA is the Leadership & Development Program which runs throughout the curriculum. This program begins with creating a comprehensive picture of the executive's current management style, using several well-tested tools, including a personality questionnaire, 360-degree managerial skills assessment, leadership performance review and team role questionnaire. We then challenge the executive to define their vision, articulate a strategy and develop an action plan. Next, TRIUM teaches them to learn to link these real-world issues to a personalized roadmap for more effective leadership. TRIUM's approach is customized for the executive in the context of the big picture. The program culminates in the creation of a personal Leadership Capstone.
